At Lake House Your Loved One is NOT a Liability

Selecting the right community for your loved one can be a challenging and stressful process. Unfortunately, many caregivers have to repeat the process when the facility they chose casts out their loved one due to a change in their physical or mental status. That won't happen at Lake House!

While there may be additional costs to continue care, residents are not dismissed simply because additional services are required. At Lake House, your loved one is never a liability.
